

ALISON WHITTAKER BIO:

Alison Whittaker is a Gomeri poet and research fellow at the Jumbunna Institute. She was a 2017-18 Fulbright scholar at Harvard Law School, where she was named Dean's Scholar in Race, Gender and Criminal Law and developed a forthcoming monograph on Australian justice system responses to Indigenous deaths in custody. Her most recent book, BLAKWORK, was released with Magabala Books in 2018.